Gaskets and co-extruded profiles carry a 12-month guarantee.
Untreated materials; such as raw aluminium, carry a 12 month Guarantee on structural integrity only.

Powder coated profiles supplied by Pure Vista Ltd are guaranteed for 5 years against peeling and blistering where the profiles have not been modified in any way, including cutting. To ensure longevity of cut profiles it is best practise to apply suitable paint/sealant to the raw edges.

Due to harsh chemicals in an internal swimming pool environment products do not carry a Guarantee and we advise not to fit our products in these locations.

The Below table outlines the Guarantee cover available by area based on distance from the coast.
This covers anodised aluminium profiles, plastic internal parts and non-exposed stainless steel parts
Extra care must be taken when installing products in a higher risk environment and fitting must follow our operating manual (OM) to protect the products from corrosion.

Notice must be given in writing to Pure Vista of any product covered in the Guarantee period showing signs of defect:
This must be given within 28-days' time of the defect first occurring. A complete description of the defect as well as photographs must be provided we may request a copy of the cleaning and maintenance schedule.

A colour variation is possible during the anodising process as not all profiles can be treated at the same time. A slight colour variation is not considered a defect in material.
Powder coat finish may have slight colour variation due to batch process; 'orange peel' effect, pinholing and craters are not considered a defect if the signs are not visible from a distance of no less than 3 metres.

Raw aluminium such as on the exposed cut edges can produce a white residue. This can be simply wiped away/cleaned. This is however a sign that corrosion may be occurring and should be treated by sealing the impacted area. Please see the installation instructions regarding sealing the exposed cut ends.
